Presentments for Hundred of Uttlesford, Freshwell and Clavering, and the Duchy of Lancaster.

First we present a bridge called Burdhouse bridge lying between Little Chesterford and Burdhouse which is in great decay so that no man can pass, the which bridge, as we understand, was erected and built of mere devotion of the lady payton, but who of right ought to repair the same we know not.

Scope and Content

Also we present John Frogge of Hempstead for keeping an alehouse without licence and also keeping great disorder; also John ATHEY and Adam Wyllson of the same for the like.

Also we present John Omphre of Samford for that he will not scour a ditch lying against Langley meadow in the parish of Hampstead, which hath already spoiled the highway.

Also we present Mr. Simon Bowede of Ugly for that he hath enclosed with hedge and ditch "the way of packe and proace leadeinge from Owgeley to Mallendyne", and also he hath done the like "leadeinge from Boyton and to Stansstyd".

Also we present Mary Whyght of "Mallendyne" for that she doth keep an alehouse contrary to the law "and without lison and hath con ever seno Michelmas last paste".
